CMA is recognized for powerful exhibitions focused on American art, its influences and themes that allow everyone to connect with creativity and inspiration. The Museum's diverse education programs serve thousands of students and adults of all ages. CMA's acclaimed Collection focuses on American works on paper, primarily watercolors, and ceramics. Founded in 1935, CMA is a cultural destination serving nearly 45,000 participants annually.

Mission

The Canton Museum of Art is where art meets life, providing opportunities for everyone to discover, explore, learn, and be inspired through a connection with American art.

Through creative exhibitions, imaginative programs, and sharing American art and its stories, the Museum is a cultural resource that engages, educates, entertains, and enriches our visitors and community.

Values & DEAI

CMA's values drive our overall operations throughout the Museum, and are reflective of best practices and ethics in the museum community. Our values include: Operational Excellence; Creativity; Diversity, Equity, Access, and Inclusion; Education; Collaboration; Stewardship; Accountability & Transparency; and Sustainable Growth.

Diversity, Equity, Access, and Inclusion (DEAI) is central to living the Canton Museum of Art's mission and values. CMA is deeply committed to DEAI at all levels of the organization in order to realize our goal of a museum and community cultural resource that is truly welcoming to all. CMA seeks to be relevant to and reflective of the community we serve; recognize value in all voices; create welcoming experiences that connect, inspire, and enrich our community; communicate with honesty and transparency; and listen carefully to one another in order to honor our different perspectives and shared life experiences.

Exhibitions & Programs

CMA presents between 12 and 14 exhibitions per year. These include featured national touring shows, original productions curated by CMA staff to showcase celebrated American artists and diverse regional talents, and themed exhibitions that make our collections come alive with stories.

CMA's exhibitions draw audiences from throughout the Midwest and across the country. Recent highly attended shows include Dream Worlds: Imaginative Realism (2016), Scrimmage: Football in American Art (2017), Elijah Pierce: An American Journey (2018); Dancing in the Light: Masterworks of American Impressionism (2020-21); and Witness to Wartime (2022).

Exhibitions are supplemented by programming that includes collaborations with the Canton Symphony, Canton Ballet, Canton Palace Theatre, and other regional groups that immerse visitors in multi-faceted experiences of art, music, dance, and film. CMA's Free Family Days and other events bring people together to discover, learn, share, and enjoy art through hands-on activities and performances, while special gallery talks, behind-the-scenes tours, and other cultural programs bring the Museum experience to life.

Education & Outreach Programs

Education is central to CMA's mission, fueling creativity and transformative experiences with art for all. Programs include free in-Museum tours and experiences for school groups across our region, serving more than 3,000 adults and students each year. Community outreach events reach more than 8,000 participants each year, including the annual fall Art Harvest; spring SmArtSplash (with Arts In Stark); and free Community Art Talks at businesses, libraries, and other institutions.

CMA's Education programs, including Curator Talks and tours, shifted to online offerings in 2020-21 in response to the COVID-19 pandemic. Virtual programming in 2020-21 reached more than 140,000 participants, and many of these programs remain as both in-person and virtual offerings upon CMA's return to normal operations.

Art Classes are offered for adults and children in fall, winter, and spring sessions, as well as summer art camps. More than 1,500 students of all ages attend 30+ art classes each session, ranging from ceramics and photography to classic oil painting, printmaking, and "first" art classes for kids pre-K and up. Need-based scholarships are available for summer art camps.

Museum To Go is CMA's new technology-based, mobile museum program for schools. It brings a virtual exhibition tour and hands-on art lesson into the classroom, based on curriculum standards in language arts, math, social studies, science, and visual art. The program reaches more than 2,000 4th and 6th grade students all across Stark County, and lessons are archived online to share.

Art for Health & Healing is an art therapy program created by the Museum that benefits more than 2,000 individuals in our community each year. It was developed in response to the growing need for innovative treatments around addiction, aging, and mental and physical health challenges including cancer, depression, Parkinson's Disease, and veterans and others with post-traumatic stress disorder.

Led by a licensed clinical counselor and certified art therapist, the program engages participants in tailored exhibition tours and studio art sessions that provide sensory experiences to both calm and heal the mind and body. The art therapy program is supported in part by grants from the Ohio Arts Council, The Aultman Foundation, and other local foundations and donors.

Community Art Partnerships are also a major part of CMA's outreach. For example:

- We work with Jackson School for the Arts, the Diocese of Youngstown, Arts Academy at Summit, and many others for custom in-school art education programs.
- For more than 25 years, CMA has presented the Stark County High School Art Exhibition — showcasing achievement in art from juniors and seniors from more than 15 schools, with financial awards made supported by statewide colleges and universities.
- With Walsh University's Museum Studies Program and The University of Akron's Myers School of Art, CMA provides internship experiences that prepare students for careers in the art world.
- We also work with Leadership Stark County and the business community to create immersive experiences with art that strengthen creativity and innovation in the workplace.

Accreditation & Affiliations

The Canton Museum of Art is accredited by the American Alliance of Museums (AAM). CMA was first accredited in 1974, and of the nation's estimated 33,000 museums, CMA is one of only 1,065 institutions to be recognized by AAM for the highest standards of excellence. CMA is also an active member of the Ohio Museums Association and Ohio Citizens for the Arts, promoting arts advocacy.

Collections

Bleak House, Broadstairs, 1889. Frederick Childe Hassam (American, 1859-1935). Watercolor on paper, 13 ½ x 9 ¾ in. Canton Museum of Art Collection.

Established in the late 1930s, the focus of CMA's permanent collection is American works on paper from the 19th century forward, with an emphasis on watercolors, and American ceramics from the 1950s through today. With more than 1,500 pieces valued at between $30 and $35 million, the Museum's collection ranks as one of the finest in Ohio.

The collection includes American masters of watercolor such as Andrew Wyeth, Edward Hopper, Winslow Homer, John Singer Sargent, Childe Hassam, and Charles Burchfield, in addition to important oils, prints, drawings, and other works by Andy Warhol, Clyde Singer, M.C. Escher, Julian Stanczak, Roy Lichtenstein, and Thomas Hart Benton among others. Periods represented range from Impressionism and Realism to American Regionalism, Abstract Expressionism, Contemporary, and more.

Artists such as Viktor Schreckengost, Toshiko Takaezu, Peter Voulkos, and Viola Frey are important figures in the Museum's ceramic holdings. Reflecting the Ohio region's richness in ceramics, including the influence of Cleveland School artists and Cowan Pottery, CMA's collection provides exciting opportunities for discovery.

New works are added through the Collections Management Committee from gifts or purchases from the Museum's acquisition funds, which are restricted solely for the purchase and direct care of art. In addition to shows each year at CMA, works from the collection are included in touring exhibitions across the United States, as well as on loan to other museums and institutions. CMA's collection is consistently updated and available online at www.cantonartorg.org for research.
